LAST CHANCE TO SECURE YOUR PLACE AT THE OCTOBER SYDNEY RESIDENTIAL WORKSHOP

Change Management: New World New Rules 23 – 24 October 2009

Acknowledging the many challenges facing both the printing and graphic arts industry as a whole and individual businesses, GAMAA has created a unique two day workshop – Change Management: New World New Rules.

This workshop is designed to assist participants in developing practical and tangible skills that will enable them to embrace the different leadership styles that are needed to effectively manage change – situational, environmental and economic – in order to improve the bottom line.

The Change Management: New World New Rules workshop will focus on:

- Resilient leadership – how to align values to meet the changing landscape
- Mindsets and optimism – understanding ourselves and our customers
- Navigating change in an Australian culture – transitioning successfully
- The Australian mindset and its impact on ideas and approaches to change
- Giving and receiving feedback – effective methodologies

John Gibney

Colin Beattie

The presenters for this workshop are John Gibney and Colin Beattie.

Both are outstanding practitioners with vast experience in the areas of change, organisational development and leadership.

GAMAA MEMBER PROFILE

Epson Australia

Epson is a leading supplier of quality imaging products to the printing, imaging and photography markets. Offering an extensive array of award-winning professional imaging products for the graphic arts market Epson's ProGraphics has been the leading supplier of large format printing solutions for the last 15 years.

Underpinning that leadership position is a focus on providing technically innovative products backed by highly regarded, sales support and service. At Epson, we also know that planning for the future requires a strong commitment to the environment.

That's why we strive to create innovative products that are reliable, recyclable, and energy efficient. Better products that use fewer resources help ensure a better future for us all. Trusted throughout the world, Epson is committed to creating ground-breaking technologies that enable you to exceed your vision.

As Epson's representative at the GAMAA table Craig Heckenberg (pictured left) says the benefits to the company of being a member of GAMAA include contributing to the ongoing development of the graphic arts industry, social networking with other industry leaders and supporting suppliers to the industry.

CALL FOR APPLICATIONS FOR 2010 SCHOLARSHIPS

Applications are now being received for the 2010 GAMAA Leadership Programme - Scholarships. Scholarships are open to all individuals working in the graphic media and printing technologies industry who have the support of their employer. The full criteria for applicants can be found on the GAMAA website.

Comments from GAMAA Scholarship Graduates:

Nathan Kable, Director, Rawson Graphics—"My GAMAA Scholarship has assisted me in many ways with my post-graduate studies, beyond just the obvious financial help. Overall, the GAMAA Scholarship has been a great support in enabling me to get the most out of my studies."

David Constable, Marketing Officer, AustralianSuper—"I feel very fortunate to have received the GAMAA scholarship to support my post-graduate studies. It has allowed me to extend myself into other areas that I would otherwise not have considered".

Full details and application forms can be obtained from the GAMAA website www.gamaa.net.au or via email enquire@gamaa.net.au Closing date 30th October, 2009. Interviews will be held in November in Melbourne and Sydney.
