UPDATE

Third Quarter 2005

Welcome to the third edition of the GAMAA Update for 2005.

This issue highlights the benefits enjoyed by GAMAA members, the release of PrintEx'07 details and an update on the workshop programme held in August in Sydney on Power and Influence.

The GAMAA Update is published quarterly and is designed to keep members informed of GAMAA's activities. If you would like to see a specific topic addressed in the Update please email media@gamaa.net.au

PrintEx'07 On Sale

Developed by GAMAA to provide Sydney with its own trade event PrintEx, which was first held in 1999, is firmly established in the local market. PrintEx03 was a great success and it is anticipated PrintEx07 will follow its predecessors presenting an unrivalled opportunity for the Sydney printing and graphic arts sector.

PrintEx07, a compact event located at the Sydney Convention & Exhibition Centre Darling Harbour, will be held in May 2007. To secure your stand, contact Brian Thomas, Exhibition Director on 02 9422 2999

Our members on the PrintEx07 board are:
Grant Churchill (Chairman)
Mitch Mulligan
Gary Seidl
Anni Rowland-Campbell (Alternate)

GAMAA LEADERSHIP PROGRAMME

August Workshop

The August workshop “Power and Influence” which was held in Sydney was a roaring success.

With a full house, this three-day residential workshop put participants through a range of activities including team building, negotiation, problem solving and values analysis providing them with real, practical tools to take back and use in their day-to-day work environment.

“Power and Influence” explored the opportunities that face leaders today in creating a new way forward and focused on the contributions that strong connection in relationships can make to the challenge of working within environmental uncertainty and ambiguity.

In 2006 GAMAA will once again run a workshop programme open to those working in the industry. Look out for more details in the end of year GAMAA Update or visit the GAMAA website at www.gamaa.net.au
